Recognized throughout the U.S. and Britain as one of the premier performers of traditional Scottish music on the international music scene today, Laval performed for Her Majesty the Queen, appeared on Dave Matthews’ platinum Some Devil album, and presented a TED Talk on the value of arts and music in our communities. Hicks Family Singers
Tennessee Family Ballad Tradition
Saturday, April 6, 8 p.m.

The Hicks Family of the Cumberland Plateau possesses in collective memory a quantity of ballads that includes many of the oldest and rarest ever kept in family tradition in the United States. Through a Tennessee Arts Commission Apprenticeship grant, siblings Daniel Hicks, Freeda Beaty, and Carmen McCord Hicks, all children of ballad singer Bessford Hicks, are passing on these songs and style to four young apprentices, including Hicks descendent Angela Bailey, Mack Bailey, and Erin Bailey, as well as family friend Summer Boyd. This unaccompanied style of singing is seldom presented today, and the beauty, tragedy, humor, and history in the songs makes their preservation an important and treasured Tennessee tradition.
