Tennessee Folklore Society – JCA maintains the offices of the Society and publishes the Tennessee Folklore Society Bulletin. The Bulletin is the oldest regional folklore journal in the United States, founded in 1934. The Laurel Theater is the new address of record for the Society and houses the organization’s archive. JCA Executive Director Brent Cantrell, a longtime member and former president of the Society, serves as editor. JCA Concert Manager Toby Koosman is co-editor and treasurer of the organization. The Bulletin is published with support from the Tennessee Arts Commission.
COVID-19 and the Laurel Theater

On March 12, 2020, as the first cases appeared in the Knoxville area, the JCA staff and executive committee met and suspended all public events at the Laurel. The full board later ratified that suspension. All upcoming concerts, dances and other public events were suspended until a solution to the pandemic emerges. Our radio programming on WDVX and WUOT continues as do our Laurel Theater social media channels on Facebook and YouTube.

As the time for our new season arrives we are looking for safe ways to present concerts. This fall we will work with area artists to livestream from their homes presenting fresh performances you can enjoy from your home. These events are free of charge but we encourage you to tip the artists if you can, and in addition, Jubilee Community Arts welcomes new and renewed memberships and donations.

The Mission of Jubilee Community Arts is to promote, preserve and present the traditional performing arts of the Southern Appalachian region and to nurture the cultural milieu responsible for the birth and evolution of these and related art forms.
Sarah Pirkle and Griffin Vann
Harmony Duo, Fiddle and Dobro
Friday, Sep 25, 8 p.m.
Sarah Pirkle and Griffin Vann are great friends who love to play music together, especially anything with harmony singing. They are two-thirds of the band the Naughty Knots. A performance from Griffin and Sarah will include original songs, old time fiddle tunes, dobro solos, and covers from all over the American roots music catalog.

Greg Horne
Old-Time & Songwriting
Friday, Oct 9, 8 p.m.
Greg has lived most of his life in the Knoxville, Tennessee area, participating in its rich indie rock, Appalachian and Americana music scenes. When not performing solo or fronting the Greg Horne Band, he is a sought-after multi-instrumentalist on guitar, fiddle, pedal steel and mandolin. His long partnerships with artists like R.B. Morris, Jay Clark, the Bearded, Tim Lee, Daniel Kimbro and Wild Ponies have been enjoyed by audiences in Tennessee and around the nation.

51st Jubilee Festival
A celebration of traditional music
Friday-Saturday, Nov 20-21
For a full half century we have showcased old-time music, ballads, blues, shape-note singing and other area music in this annual event. The 51st Jubilee Festival originally scheduled for late March will take place online.
Planning for our first festival started in the fall of 1969 with the implementation of an Appalachian Craft Festival in the spring of 1970 that included a music stage. In the next few years the traditional music component grew and the event came to be known as Jubilee Festival which Jubilee Community Arts has continued to produce each year. Last year’s 50th Jubilee Festival was held during a historic flood, but still filled the Laurel for three days with old and new friends. Though the current pandemic forced us to cancel this year’s live event, we cannot let a year pass without the Jubilee Festival.

Join us on Facebook (Laurel Theater) for two nights of music with John Alvis, Greg Horne, Leah Gardner, Danny Gammon, Steve Horton, Darrell Acuff, Nancy Brennan Strange, Sparky and Rhonda Rucker, Henry Perry and Jaimie Cameron and others. Details and updates will be available on jubileearts.org.

Originally from South Carolina, Kelle and her saxophonist husband Will Boyd make their home in Knox County. Kelle’s music influences include Sister Rosetta Tharpe, Nina Simone and Sarah Vaughan, and her repertoire includes early regional women blues and sacred singers, among them Knoxvillians Leola Manning and Ida Cox. Kelle is host of “Jazz Jam with Kelle Jolly” on WUOT.
